Primary News

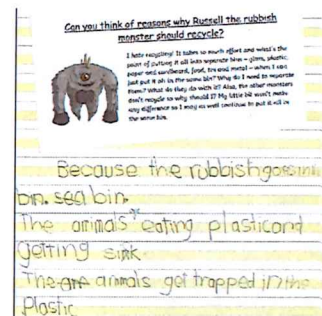

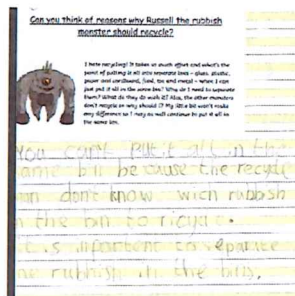

w/e 28th March 2024

This term seems to have sped along and there have been many achievements across all areas of school life. Pupils have engaged in activities themed around our half term topic 'How can we help the Planet?', including their persuasive writing that would definitely support Sir David Attenborough's Plastic Message. We hope that your children are also developing their understanding and skills for the importance of reducing, reusing and recycling plastic at home.

Pupils proudly came up in assembly this week to talk about their learning and how keen they are to 'help the planet'. For example, our photos show Adam, Houssain and Logan talking through their class display, and Areesha and Buruk reading key messages within their persuasive writing:

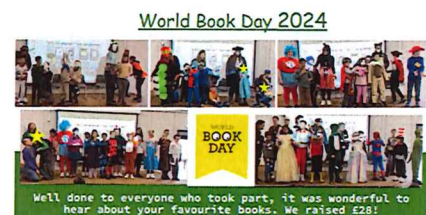

We all agreed that we are already doing many of the things to gain our Eco Schools Green Flag award, and are looking forward to setting up our Eco Schools club when we come back in the summer term. Pupils keenly put their hands up, committed to gathering evidence and setting up new initiatives to achieve this award.

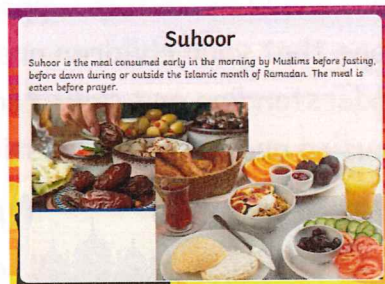

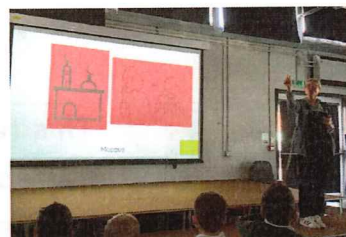

Thank you to all pupils, parents and staff who ensured that everyone had fun on World Book Day raising £28 and on Red Nose Day raising £48.45. Pupils enjoyed showing off their character outfits and celebrating our love of reading. Comic Relief was also a reflective day, understanding more about charities and raising money to help others.

School Assemblies

We hope that you enjoy exploring the website with your children, to share many of our school insights <https://www.clarendon.richmond.sch.uk/> . Pupils look forward to learning new signs of the week and school songs, and learning all about our music and artists of the week. Assemblies are an important part of school day for sharing values and opinions, and teaching pupils about responsibility, diversity, accountability and life skills. Pupils recently enjoyed learning to sign whilst saying "mosque" and learnt all about Ramadan. Thank you to our wonderful staff who shared Ramadan's values and kindness during our assembly:

Thank you to others who help us

A huge thank you to Sawntara's (a pupil in Star's class) father who came into school recently to hand over the cheque from the organisation that he works for - The Co-operative Group. The Co-operative Group gives money to help local communities and charities, and everyone was so appreciative that Clarendon Primary pupils would be benefiting from this. The new height adjustable activity tray table has already come in extremely useful on a daily basis. The top comes off for fun messy play activities, and can then be quickly put back on for other multisensory (less messy) activities.

We hope you all have a relaxing and fun Easter break and we look forward to seeing your children back at Clarendon Primary on Monday 15th April. We hope your children enjoy doing the school treasure hunt and we will enjoy sharing these and putting them on display when we are back.
